FORMERLY ORGANIZED THE POULTRY SHOW

PLANNING NOW FOR BIG EXHIBIT

LIST OF THE PRIZES AT AN EARLY DATE

Chicken Fanciers Met in Anderson Yesterday, Organized and Elected All Officers.

The Anderson County Poultry Association was formally organized in the rooms of the Anderson chamber of commerce yesterday morning. Numbers of fanciers from all parts of the county were in attendance and it is now a certainty that a big show will be held here.

Porter A. Whaley, secretary of the Anderson chamber of commerce, called the meeting to order and J. L. Jolly was elected president. Mr. Jolly took the chair and the association then elected A. N. Campbell as vice president and Dr. H. H. Harris as secretary and treasurer, following which plans for the holding of the show were taken up and worked out in detail. It was determined that the association should be governed by an executive committee and E. O. Robinson and D. A. Reed were selected to be members of this committee, to compose the executive committee, together with the officers of the association.

The following members were enrolled in the association:
J. W. Rothrock, A. N. Campbell, R. E. Campbell, J. L. Jolly, Dr. Herbert Harris, L. O. Robinson, E. V. Campbell, L. O. Vandiver, J. L. Farmer, D. A. Reed, C. W. Caucy, O. B. VanWyeck, E. K. Prevost, C. J. DeCamp, Malcomb Burriss, W. C. Brown, S. A. Burns, J. M. Broyles, P. D. Skelton, G. C. Hall, C. G. Stevenson, W. M. Webb, L. M. Cecil, W. L. Brissett, J. H. Seel, W. G. Hembree, Dr. C. N. Tripp.

It was then decided to hold the annual chicken show at the Pepper building in Anderson on the 17th of November for the chamber of commerce.

The prize list was then read and no changes were made in the prizes already offered, but two or three additions were made.

The arrangement about the coops for the show was left with the executive committee.

The plans of the association call for the chickens to be shown or exhibited, in trials or in singles. The price for entering fowls in the show will be 10 cents per fowl to outsiders and free to the members of the association.

The members of the association are to pay 50 cents per year in advance and be liable to call for another 50 cents as it is needed.

Just now the plans for the show are not yet complete but the able committee appointed this morning will have them out in a short time.

The association holds the membership of the association open and any one wishing to join will readily be accepted. The name of the association, The Anderson County Poultry Association, does not mean that persons out of the county are barred from being members. Anyone will be admitted, although the object of the association is at present to work only in Anderson county.

CLEMSON BOYS ARE NOT COMING.

A letter was received yesterday by the Anderson chamber of commerce from Dr. W. M. Riggs, president of Clemson college, in which Dr. Riggs thanked the local association for the kind invitation extended the cadet corps to spend a week in Anderson this fall, but he declined the invitation. In his letter Dr. Riggs says that the order issued in regard to the corps going to Columbia for the state fair was due to two things. In the first place it is an additional expense and in the second place the trip seriously interferes with the work of the institution. Dr. Riggs says that there will be no trip of any kind for the boys of Clemson college this year.

LADIES GIVEN OPPORTUNITY

Special Departments at Anderson College Open Special Inducements

The special departments at Anderson college will enroll a few more pupils and the college invites the ladies of Anderson to take advantage of this opportunity.

Prof. and Mrs. Goode in piano, Miss Stranathan in voice and Miss Nolle Smith in violin could take more students in the department of music.

Miss Mary Dodson Ramseur, who spent the summer at work in Paris, is well prepared to give excellent courses in all departments of art.

Miss Felicia Murray is giving some attractive courses in domestic science art, and would gladly arrange classes for the needs of any of the ladies.

A person who care to study this important subject.

Miss W. Wakefield would also be glad to arrange classes in expression for the ladies.

We should be delighted to have the ladies of the city visit the college and see the work that is being done in these departments. They can then consult with the teachers and find out just what is being done in the various departments.

RUMOR SAYS P. & N. IS TO COMPLETE LINES

WILL CONNECT UP MISSING LINK

AT AN EARLY DATE

Contract Will Soon Be Let For Building Road Between Spartanburg and Gastonia, N. C.

A very persistent rumor is being heard around Anderson to the effect that the Piedmont & Northern line railway, instead of dropping all extension work as has been stated, will build their lines on between Spartanburg, S. C., and Gastonia, N. C., and have the work finished and the line in operation within the next year. The report, while not from an official source, is nevertheless to be relied upon and those who have heard it believe that it is true.

It is based on the fact that one of the chief officials of the road was just about to let a supply for a large number of supplies a few days ago when he received a telegram and after perusing his message he informed his hearers that he would not place the order for the additional supplies because they would be worthless in less than six months as the connecting link was to be constructed.

It is approximately 60 miles from Spartanburg to Gastonia and when this link is built it will be possible to travel from Charlotte to Anderson by the electric line. It is understood that the new line will be built from Gastonia to Spartanburg either by way of Gaffney or by way of Shelby, but the question of route has never been definitely settled so far as the public knows.

Anderson people all trust that the report is not groundless and that the additional work may soon be under way.

FALL GARDEN IS FINE INVESTMENT

Anderson Farmers Given Valuable Advice By Clemson As To Working of the Plan

A number of Anderson county farmers received circulars yesterday from Clemson College dealing with the planting of a fall garden and all the farmers are enthusiastic. The plan says:

A small amount of time and labor expended in the preparation and planting of a fall garden will bring valuable returns, aside from the pleasure of having fresh vegetables for the table during the "dry" winter months, the financial saving is worthy of consideration. Following is a list of vegetables that may be included in the fall garden:

Beets.—Sow best seed the latter part of September. The plants will stand the winter and produce beets for early spring use.

Cabbage.—Select plants of the Wakefield varieties if set now will form heads before the cold weather. With slight protection both cabbage and collards will carry through our severest winters.

Kale.—Seed sown during September will produce an abundance of greens during winter and early spring. Siberian curled is a good fall variety.

Lettuce.—Sow Big Boston variety for a supply of delightful salad during fall and winter. With slight protection firm heads can be produced.

Mustard.—Mustard will stand any amount of cold and seed sown during September will furnish greens throughout the fall, winter, and early spring.

Onion.—White Pearl is a splendid variety for fall planting. Sets of this variety will furnish bulbs and tops during the winter, and early spring. Seeds may be sown from September 20th to October 15th.

Garden Peas.—Plant during the month of November for the earliest spring peas. Alaska is a good variety for fall planting.

Radish.—One white Spanish or some of the other varieties of winter radish will remain in good condition throughout the winter. Sow seed the last of September.

Rape.—Though commonly sown for pasture, rape seed sown in September will yield excellent winter greens.

Spinach.—One of our most delightful vegetables. Seed sown the last of September or early part of October will produce greens throughout the winter until late spring.

Turnips.—This is our best winter vegetable that will produce both roots and tops for winter and spring use. Sow seed from 1st to 20th of September.

Every farmer's garden should be supplied with cold frames and hot beds. These are easily and cheaply constructed and serve as an important factor in keeping up the supply of vegetables during the winter months.

The course in entomology and zoology at Clemson College has been made so practical as possible by the plan being so to train students taking this course that they will be well equipped to handle the common insect pests affecting orchard, garden, and field crops.

COTTON PICKING TIME.

Work Day is cotton picking time. Fields all over the state will be "white unto harvest." Many farmers will be glad to get cotton picked. And this is a work which all boys and girls like.

In country Sunday schools it should not be a difficult thing for superintendents or teachers to arrange for their schools or classes to pick cotton. Neither should it be a thing impossible for town schools.

What would a crowd of town boys and girls like more than to spend a day in the country picking cotton? Let dinner be carried, and the day will not only be one of pleasure to the boys and girls, but with proper supervision, also one of profit to the farmer whose cotton is picked.—The Counts Maxwell.

Every farm in South Carolina with 50 or more cows should have a silo. Silage is the best and cheapest form in which to supply excellent feed for winter use.

REPORT FOR WORK AT CLEMSON.

About 50 per cent of the students of last year, omitting those who finished their courses, have returned to Clemson College and have begun the work of the present session. President Riggs stated that this session began more quietly and with probably less confusion than any other in years. All departments of the institution are now in full order.
